Guarding a Dead Body.

AROUND THE COPFIN OF ITS LATE PASTOR. The little village of Hulmeville, Bucks county, Pa., has been thrown into a state of much excitement over the developments tor of the Episcopal church. Three years ago Mr. Jarrett came to Hulmeville, an entire stranger, to fill the pulpit of the Epis-copal church, which had been vacant for some time. A nest church and parsonage parsonage and entered upon his With the exception of a library his own cooking, and attended to his wants without assistance. His flock attributed his desire for solitude to eccentricity. Though seventy years of age he was active ast week he preached to his congregation, and was in apparent good health. After the evening service he retired to the parwas effected by a second-story window, the doors being securely fastened, and the aged pastor was found lying dead on the floor from the effects of apoplexy. A coroner's inquest was summoned, and in the course of the medical examination it was apparent to all present that there was was apparent to all present that there was a remarkable physical phenomenon in the organism of the deceased, indicating a unity of both sexes. The strange tidings were soon whispered throughout the village, and it was said the doctors intended to carve the dead body in the interest. to carve the dead body in the interests of science. A remonstrance against the mutilation of the remains was instantly circulated, and was signed by nearly all the inhabitants of the place. This was pre-sented to the doctors, and as a post-mortem examination was not apparently neces-sary to determine the cause of death, the medical men unwillingly submitted to the wishes of the people. A verdict of death from apoplexy was rendered, and arrangements were made for interring the remains.

A fear existed that on account of the

Mr. Jarrett had no relatives in this country. On several occasions he told mem-bers of his congregation that he had a wife and children, who were living in Australia. He intimated that he and his wife did not live happily together. Gossipy tongues in the village have spread the report that Mr. Jarrett was quite wealthy. Pending an investigation it is difficult to ascertain the financial condition of the deceased. It is known, however, that he held deeds to a some money invested in securities, which

REVOLUTIONARY TROOPS ENTER THE CAPI-TAL-A MODERN JOAN OF ARC.

The latest news from Ecuador is quite startling. After the capture of Esmeral-das Colonel Juliio Camba embarked for Manta and Guayaquil with only about half the numbers of his command, after having ransacked the place and allowed the wanton destruction by fire of several houses and stores. Simultaneous with this cap-ture of Esmeraldas was the invasion of an organized force through the frontier of Carchi, under Colonel Landazuri and other chiefs, who, after having taken San Luis, undertook a straightforward march to Quito, the capital. To the timely arrival and coöperation of this force the capture of this important strategic place is due principally and conclusively. The metroplis had been invested by General Salazar early in the morning of the 11th of January. Salvador, the acting President for Veintemilla at Quito, had a veteran regular force, far superior in numbers to their assailants, under Salazar, who had certainly in his favor the sympathies of the people. Yet the Dictator's troops held their own when Salazar tried to draw them out of their entrenchments by a sudden retreat. The advantage was followed up by the Veintemilla forces, stimulated by a certain young lady, Marieta, a niece of the San Luis, undertook a straightforward certain young lady, Marieta, a niece of the tyrant, who showed herself a real Amazon on the battle-field.

MOVING ON GUAYAQUIL. Landazuri and his command, by forced marches, had reached mean time, at about noon of that memorable day, a place not far from Quito, where he had to stop for food. The firing of the attack was heard, formed and the hunger of the troops Landazuri and his chiefs around hastened to tender to their comrades their help, and soon joined in their decisive endeavor to capture the city of Oulto, which was full. She rented rooms for a year, furcapture the city of Quito, which was fully and successfully accomplished on that same afternoon before sunset. The streets of the capital were strewn with the bodies of the killed, and the struggle seems to have been very sanguinary and obstinately contested. All the Dictator's troops at Quito were taken prisoners. Only a few leading chiefs escaped, among them Colonels Morales and Ortega. A provisional government was immediately organized under Colonel José Maria Sarasti, a lawyer of distinction and popularity, and General Augustin Guer-rero. A provisional Cabinet has been formed under Serasti and Guerrero, formed under Serasti and Guerrero, with Colonel Ramon Agiuirre as general in command of the army. Veintemilla is reduced to the actual limits of Guayaquil. The veterans he had at different stations under his control have been withdrawn and recalled to Guayaquil, where the Dictator intends to resist his enemies, taking advantage of the unusual facilities of the place for an indefinite resistance. The forces from Cuenca, under Colonel Urbina, are at Guayaquil, and there is nothing to hinder the new government from extending its rule throughout Ecuador, with the only exception of the Port of Guayaquil.

A Horrible Death-A Woman Falls

Upon a Rip-Saw. [New York Herald.]
A shocking accident occurred Monday afternoon at George Blair's packing-box factory, in York street, by which a woman tost her life almost instantly. Mr. Blair's family occupy the house at No. 13 York is larger than the combined circustreet, in the rear of which extends a long, lation of all the other daily news. skylight. About 5 o'clock Monday after-noon Mrs. Caroline Bernheimer, of No. 338 Hudson street, who had been engaged du-ring the day washing for Mrs. Blair, was upon the roof of the shed taking in some of the clothes which had been drying on the lines. No one in the layer observed seen to fall through the skylight and drop upon the table containing the swiftly-re-volving rip-saw. Mrs. Bernheimer struck the table upon her back, the saw penetra-ting her body just below the shoulder-blades and nearly severing it in two, for the saw projected about six inches above the boards. saw continued its whirr until the man who was working at the table had recovered his presence of mind sufficiently to change the gearing and stop the machinery. The horror-stricken workmen gathered about the table, and raising the lifeless body from its resting-place laid it upon a bench. Gulich, of Beach street, was sent for, but his services were, of course, not needed. She had evidently died instantly, the teeth of the saw having penetrated the heart. Her body was afterward taken in charge by her relatives, with whom she lived. She was a widow, and leaves one child, a girl

A Mystery in a Tunnel.

A great deal of impatience has been mani-fested by the people at what they thought was tardiness on the part of the Council in failing to carry out their recorded wishes in regard to the building of a new City Hall. (Pace Block). MANCHESTER AND VICINITY.

Briefs .- At the March term of the County Court-Judge James M. Gregor presiding-commencing on the second Monday of the month, the 12th, there will be several criminal cases to be disposed of, including the one in which Wittiam Davis (colored) is to be tried for an alleged house-breaking. In noticing, on January 21st, the cases set for trial at this term of the court, it was stated in this column that M. W. Vaiden was charged before the court with middle weareness to be treed at the arewith misdemeanor, to be tried at the pre-sent term, a mistake which was no doubt caused by confounding the facts and names, Mr. Vaiden having been mainly mental in so far bringing Davis to justice by causing him to be indicted. Clerk DuVal, of the City Court, is making up his docket of cases set for trial at the March term of his court, beginning on the third Monday of the month. The civil cases far exceed those of the other sort both in the importance of the issues to be decided as well as in number.

Manchester Lodge, No. 14, A. F. and A. M., seems to have taken a new lease of life as the lodge now has work at every monthly communication. The new brothers will be in time to participate in the centennial anniversary of the lodge, which is not far off.

The city continues to be both healthy and peaceful-healthy because of its splendid topographical surroundings, and peaceful because of the excellent watch and ward their large and assorted stock of goods, coaststdeed of settlement and directing convey- kept over the moral bearing of the people Mayor Taylor's excellent and indefatigable pottee.

Lent will expire by limitation on the 25th, after which, according to present advices, the matrimonial business will preponderate with a vigor unusual even in this latitude. Also, with the advent of "spring time," will come not only "gentle Annie," but many of her, to make glad the Simon vs. Burrows, and Cohen Brothers heart of rising manhood in the mazy waltz or delicious german, nowhere dearer to the average heart of maiden or man than in the "Old Free State."

The season at Bon Air the coming mer is expected to be made specially enjoyable by the presence of many leading citizens both of Chesterfield and Henrico. Several cottages now being erected for private parties there will then have received smith vs. Baker's administrator. Descree directing trust-deed to be marked satisfied.
